Continuous Improvement Process Training

This Lean Six Sigma Yellow course is designed to develop employees into Lean experts who, will then move on to lead and sustains Lean Six Sigma implementation projects as part of their regular work responsibilities. The employees will learn the skills and knowledge necessary to identify and lead Lean Six Sigma Kaizen events and projects and correctly implement strategic and tactical tools using the DMAIC methodology.

What trainees will learn:

- DMAIC Methodology
- Problem Solving
- 5S WPO
- Standard Work
- Visual Management
- Management for Daily Improvement

How this training will benefit your company and employees:

Employees who complete this course will contribute to a company by playing a supportive role in the larger Lean Six Sigma Process Improvement projects. These employees understand the concepts used to collect critical information on processes and allow other Yellow Belts to gain knowledge and experience in the problem-solving process. Everyone's comprehension of the process is an integral part of improvement methodology. Yellow Belt-certified trained individuals have the job of locating, controlling and watching out for possible monetary loss in any area of the company, and report this kind of information to Green Belts and Black Belts residing within the company.

Who should attend?

1. All people in the organization

This training is typically offered in 40 hours. Onsite training may be customized to meet your business needs.
